JOINT BOAT CLUB EXCURSION.

Trip to Marshall Hall for the Benefit of the Regatta Fund.

The excursion to Marshall Hall arranged by the Columbia Athletic, Annapolis and Potomac Boat Clubs jointly will be given to-morrow evening.

The members of the clubs have sold a number of tickets, but are anxious to sell many more, and it is hoped that the friends of the clubs will buy liberally of them, as the proceeds of the venture are to go toward paying the expenses of the regatta held on Saturday afternoon, and it is necessary that a certain sum be realized from this source.

The clubs were each under heavy expense preparing for the regatta, and are in no condition financially to pay the cost of the event which gave pleasure to so many thousands of persons, out of their respective treasuries.

The steamer Maclester will leave her wharf at Seventh street at 6:30 o'clock on to-morrow evening, and return home early.

The several committees in charge have perfected all arrangements, and a delightful evening's pleasure is assured, who go down with these three popular clubs, which are already well known as most liberal and genial hosts.

SUNDAY BEHIND THE BARS

How the Day Is Passed in the District Jail.

IT'S COOL BUT MONOTONOUS

Religious Services Are the Events Looked Forward to by the Prisoners—They Enjoy the Music—Dinner Bill of Fare for the Incarcerated Ones on the Lord's Day.

While the citizens of Washington were sweltering in the heat yesterday and dividing their time between devising means to keep cool, 306 inmates of the District Jail quietly passed the time in reading, singing, eating and napping. Doubtless in many instances a goodly share of the time was devoted to meditation.

The jail is not a hot building in summer. In fact, it was cool, and the prisoners always look forward to Sunday as a treat. It used to be the custom to allow all of the prisoners, who so desired, to congregate in the large rotunda of the building for religious services Sunday, but it is no longer thought advisable.

The prisoners are now permitted to sit upon the steps leading up to the walls of the rotunda to the four stories of cells that form three wings to the building. From these steps they can look down through the gratings on the persons conducting the services.

On Sunday morning most of the prisoners arise about 8 o'clock. Half an hour later they have breakfast, of coffee, bread and fish. At 10 o'clock it is customary for members of the Catholic brotherhood of St. Vincent de Paul to hold religious services in a double cell at the end of the south wing. About one-tenth of the inmates of the prison attend this service.

Two hours later, every alternate Sunday, religious services are held in the rotunda by missionaries from various colored Methodist congregations. Between the breakfast hour and noon each prisoner is permitted to take a half hour's exercise in the corridor on which his cell is situated. While the colored services are in progress the prisoners remain in their cells, but they can hear every feature of the service if they desire to listen. Then the hour of dinner arrives.

Yesterday the dinner bill of fare was: Cornbread, corn beef and cabbage, potatoes and coffee. All were well cooked, and the meal was served to each man in a rectangular tin box, without the luxury of knife, fork, spoon or plate.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon religious services were held, as on every Sunday afternoon, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and the Central Union Mission. This is the event the majority of the prisoners look forward to, doubtless not in most cases, because of their desire for spiritual recreation, but for the reason that those whose conduct has been commendable during the week are privileged to sit upon the iron steps behind the wire-covered grating for an hour.

The jail has an organ. This is rolled into the center of the rotunda, and as some fair organist sits down to the instrument, the others interested in the religious work gather around. A song is started. Then it is that the musical instinct of the negro (only 48 of the prisoners are white) asserts itself, and wonderful singing is the result. Everyone wants to sing, and though the prisoner's mind may be far away from the sentiment of the song, he will enter into it with zest and apparent feeling.

The prisoners are, with few exceptions, deferential and reverent in the other services, but it is plain to be seen that the music is the all in all to them. They are not allowed to sing in their own cells above a gentle humming of a tune, and it is only on such occasions as these that they are fully permitted to indulge in the carolers' music.

The remainder of the day is leisurely and lazily spent. The vast majority of the prisoners are ignorant, and books and newspapers are conspicuous for their absence. Occasionally a prisoner, who feels that he has friends yet left him, will sit down on the side of his cot and pencil a letter on a leaf torn from the memorandum book in his pocket. Most of them lie around lazily on their cots or look longingly through their iron-barred cell windows into the limited world hedged in by the outer walls of the prison.

For some cause the nights are warmer than the days. The jail officials do not know the reason. On the warm nights that have lately passed, the "water man," who in the day makes his rounds continuously, was kept until a late hour answering the calls of the thirsty.

HARMONY ITS OBJECT.

Big Republican Mass-Meeting Booked for Thursday Night.

District Republicans are considerably interested in a mass-meeting to be held on Thursday evening of this week in the southeastern section of the city. The meeting has been called by Mr. William H. Booker, the Republican leader of the Twenty-first district, and all the other leaders have been invited to participate.

It is said that the olive branch of peace has been extended to the Union Republican Club, which has been termed as the silk-stocking and kid-glove element of the party, and the club will be invited to participate in the meeting.

A band has been hired for the occasion. The meeting is to be held in Booker's Park, at D and Thirteenth streets.

TOO HEAVY FOR THE SHIPS.

Torpedo Boats of the Maine Are of No Use.

It develops that the real reason why the torpedo boats constructed for the battleships Maine and Texas will not be used as such is that they are too heavy for the purpose and cannot be carried on the ships.

The lines of the boats were changed after the machinery for them had been designed, but notwithstanding this it is said that they can make the required rate of speed for torpedo boats. If their weight were satisfactory they would be all right. They will probably be sent to the Naval Academy and put to some use there.

Warrant for Capt. Rhodes.

There is trouble again in the family of Capt. Julius Rhodes, and late last night a warrant was issued by Magistrate Harper on complaint of Rhodes' son, who charged his father with profanity. Young Rhodes and his sister went to their father's home, in Twining City, yesterday, on their bicycles, to see their mother. They did not gain admittance, and the son alleges his father became very abusive and used profane language. Capt. Rhodes, some time ago, gained considerable notoriety by offering to raise a company of Americans to fight in Brazil during the late revolution.

Prince Yak Arrives.

Prince Hio Y. Yak, at one time prime minister of Korea, arrived in this city yesterday and has secured a suite of rooms at the Ohio House. The object of the visit of the prince is to acquaint himself more thoroughly with the machinery of this government, which hopes to aid him in supplying something similar for his own government. He will remain here several months.

Old Guard Will Go.

The Old Guard, the military organization of this city composed of honorably discharged soldiers of the United States Army, will attend the A. R. encampment at Louisville sixty strong, and will be accompanied by the Mount Pleasant Field Band of eighty pieces. The Guard will be quartered at St. John's school building in Louisville.
